2013 TREE WARDEN REPORT

The beginning of the year started normal but on the eighth and ninth of February a large snow storm hit us so bad that we needed help from the Army National Guard for the cleanup of down trees and branches. This was an experience since the guardsmen did not know the area. My work as Tree Warden did not slow down until April.

2013 continued to be an extraordinary year for me beating cancer and for the Town hiring Louis Aiello as my part-time worker. I also received help from individuals who had signed up for the senior work off program allowing me to complete a lot of long overdue work in the Town's Historical Cemeteries.

Once again the Town was awarded the Tree City USA Award for the fifth year in a row being another great accomplishment by Town's Tree Committee.

I look forward to another productive year in 2014.
